

Bridge the Gap Through

Better Connections

“For better connections to happen, we need to converse with curiosity by listening from the inside out.”

“The key to taking responsibility is to be crystal clear on our motivations and intentions prior to rolling out a message.”

Better connections

Recognize the impact

Make conversations meaningful

(Re)claim responsibility

Listen to others as if they are wise

Form an intended message

“The longer we keep pointing a finger away from us, the longer the problem lies outside us.”

“My paternal grandfather told me a story once that involved long spoons. The idea is that there's plenty of food to be had, but the utensils are too heavy and long to be used individually.”
